Greater Lynchburg Area Water Utilities Kicks Off Drinking Water Week Highlighting Tap Water Being “There When You Need It”

Lynchburg, VA – Lynchburg Water Resources, Bedford Regional Water Authority, Amherst County Service Authority, and Campbell County Utilities and Service Authority along with partners throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia today kicked off Drinking Water Week, by highlighting the different ways consumers’ tap water is “There When You Need It.” Drinking Water Week is May 2-8 this year.

The organizations are observing Drinking Water Week by recognizing the vital role tap water plays in daily life, the infrastructure that is required to carry it to and from homes and businesses, and the critical work that water professionals accomplish around the clock.

“During this Drinking Water Week, let’s keep in mind that we continue to serve an integral role in meeting our daily hygiene needs during the coronavirus pandemic”, says Virginia Section AWWA Chair, Russ Navratil. “We touch people’s lives every day by providing them with safe potable drinking water at an affordable cost. We accomplish this by working with all water professionals to design, construct, operate, and maintain our infrastructure to ensure that we deliver safe potable drinking water to our customers while also meeting the regulatory requirements that we operate under.”

“By partnering with all the water utilities in the region, we are demonstrating a key principle in water management and conservation, it takes a whole community working together to protect our water resources, which is definitely something to celebrate”, says Timothy Mitchell, Director of Lynchburg Water Resources.

During Drinking Water Week the utilities encourage community members to “stop for a moment and remember how important clean water is to every aspect of our lives and how blessed we are to have the sources, the technology, and the dedicated water and wastewater professional operators and utility workers needed to provide it,” stated Robert Hopkins, Executive Director of Amherst County Service Authority.

“Water is a common need for people all over the world. Traveling through a constant cycle of use and reuse in watersheds everywhere, the presence of water is essential for a healthy community. The Bedford Regional Water Authority (BRWA) takes great pride in managing this precious resource in order to provide our customers with high-quality water. None of this would be possible without the team of dedicated professionals at the Authority. Through the combination of robust water sources and dedicated staff, the BRWA is proud to be the water provider for the Bedford community and we will continue to be ‘there when you need it’”, said Brian Key, BRWA Executive Director.

To commemorate the week, water utilities, water organizations, government entities, environmental advocates, schools and others throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia and beyond are encouraging consumers to learn more about the importance of water and water infrastructure, especially in times of crisis.
